Dear Lloyd:

Thank you for your informative note.

I am glad to learn we will be seeing you. I'm off to England next week but will be back the first week in April.

You asked about a genetical-microbiologist. I think I can suggest just the man for you, T. C. Nelson. I'm a little busy right now, so I've asked him to send you his own dossier, and you can learn more about him when you visit in April. He's working for Skoog right now (in Botany) on a terminating project, and you could also check further with Skoog, and with Francis Ryan with whom he got his degree.

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
